

2020 | EDITION 1

The SOURCE

FOR ARCHITECTS AND
INTERIOR DESIGNERS

- ❶ In The Works
- ❷ Archetypes
- ❸ The SOURCE Design Awards 2020: Review
- ❹ Inside Story
- ❺ Travel Inspirations: Destinations & Shows
- ❻ The Index

Chhavi House by Abraham John Architects
Photography: Alan Abraham
At Chhavi House in Rajasthan, Abraham John Architects ensured it complied with vastu shastra, ancient Indian design principles regarding space, sunlight, flow and function, to increase positive energy and attract abundance and prosperity.

www.abrahamjohnarchitects.com

Falconer Street Residence by Sonelo Architects
Photography: Ben Hosking
At an elegant property on Melbourne's Falconer Street, Sonelo Architects introduced a minimal yet clever intervention to the interior layout to create a new kitchen-diner and home office which embrace the garden and the bluestone laneway at the side.

www.sonelo_architects.com.au

Costa Smeralda Villas by Ferdinando Fagnola + PAT. studio
Photography: Pino dell'Aquila
Back in the 1970s, architects Ferdinando Fagnola and Gianni Francione conceived a complex of villas in Sardinia, Italy. A recent renovation by Fagnola himself, together with PAT. studio, resulted in the regrouping of the architectural organism initially conceived.

www.patdesign.it

Happy Valley Residence by Lim + Lu
Photography: Nirut Benjanpot
Lim+Lu brought a breath of fresh air to this 1,200 sq-ft apartment in Hong Kong's Happy Valley. Reflecting their versatile and colourful design aesthetic, the apartment's transformation alludes to a flexible living environment required by modern day living.

www.limandlu.com

Elegant Residence by AD Architecture
Photography: Ouyang Yun
For this apartment located in a high-end residential community, AD Architecture devised an elegant space filled with artistic features which would appropriately reflect the 'luxe' positioning of the development, and recall Ludwig Mies van der Rohe's theory of 'less is more'.

www.adcasa.hk

Headland House by Atelier Andy Carson
Photography: Michael Nicholson
A stunning 150-acre property with sweeping views, Headland House in New South Wales is a four bedroom, four-and-a-half-bathroom main home consisting of three linked pavilions. Inspired by the spectacular landscape, Atelier Andy Carson created a respectful celebration of the location.

www.atelier_andycarson.com

